Thanks Michael,

I kept that old note and have reviewed it again and I'm also reading Talbot's "Holographic Universe".

As this comes together more for me I'd like to continue this discussion. I'm forgoing the old Hypnoenergetics model into one that embraces alternate realities and parallel lives – absolutely moving outside of time and space.

One thought I'm working on is that the exercising of free-will, a creation consciousness if you like, then causes a split into alternate realities from the available option in the free will choices.

More soon, if you are comfortable with bouncing some thoughts and of course if you have time following the move.

Take care

Pete

Dear Pete:

Well, I'm about six weeks late on answering your e-mail to me about cosmology but it has taken me this long since the move to get a little organized. First of all I would refer you to an earlier three page e-mail I sent to our membership called: COSMOLOGY AND LBL.

As early as Maxwell and Faraday, it was discovered that when magnetic fields change in time they produce new electromagnetic fields. It has been said that in Quantum Theory this axiom has a self-renewing disturbance that continues to take on a life of its own. Electromagnetic changes in space involve light and motion and I believe there is a symmetry in all particles that involve both alternative realities and parallel universes—including multiple dimensions where time continuums can be "jumped." As I said in my article to everyone on this subject they appear as "layers" in the spirit world. Spirits are not limited by the physical laws of velocity. In the superconscious state the supersymmetry of a soul light being is capable of movement into new dimensions and alternate realities without restrictions.

What happens to an immortal entity as it moves into the quantum dimensions isn't displacement because distance is not an appropriate term here. I call it "shapeshifting" into new grid layers of thought. Any restrictions in conceptualizing this activity come from the physical conscious and unconscious mind in the human brain. It is only in superconscious that allow for the breaking of the bonds of human experience where probability waves in a time continuum are not restricted.

You mentioned past live recall, so how does this fit in? Looking backward in our own physical time continuum we can observe and recall our past lives on earth. We do this in a non-superconscious state. However, when we see ourselves as hybrid souls on physical worlds (probably in our universe) I don't think we have yet broken the bonds of the subconscious mind. Only when we can recall being in mental worlds (perhaps in other dimensions) are we in a state of hypnosis so deep that we have bridged into soul memory. No longer is our memory bound by physical shapes within a geographic framework.

Pete, as to the spirit world itself—in terms of our superconscious recall—I do not believe it is part of multi-dimensional spaces. Even though "layering" can be experienced I feel here we are on a plane of pure thought, or non-space.

Take care.....Michael
